A Chicago Man Wants to Be the Steward of the White House.

Visitors From the Territories Interview General Harrison.

GRAND JURY WORK AT INDIANAPOLIS

Colonel Budley to Make a Public Statement About Election Frands.

A Chicago man has already filed his application for the stewardship of the White House. He claims to be able to furnish good dinners, and consequently to keep the ber of the club, and was at the clubhouse administration in good humor. The Pres- several times after he confessed his guilt to ident-elect still receives his daily quota of the officers of the bank. After DeBaun had visitors. The Indianapolis grand jury is shown the bank officials what he stole and still working on the alleged election frauds.
Colonel Dudley is thinking of making public his connection with the alleged frauds

Some of the clubmen wished to subscribe lic his connection with the alleged frauds in case he is not indicted.

INFECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. INDIANAPOLIS, January 21.-Hugo Ziemann, of Chicago, came to see General Harrison to-day upon business which was not exactly politics, but which may have an important bearing upon the success of the next administration. Mr. Ziemann 18 steward of the fashionable Richelieu Hotel in Chicago, and he says that he cares not who make up the Cabinet so long as he can make the dinners. With his dinners he is sure that General Harrison's digestion will never get off the track and his liver never go back on him, and with these conditions he believes that General Harrison could not be anything but a cheerful and popular President if he tried. It is not known what success he met with in his application to who have been keeping away from Indianapolis since the election on account of the publicity that attends visits here, are likely to become famous in spite of themselves

The clerks at the New Denison Hotel, where many of the political callers generally go, have gotten into the habit of writing names upon the register just for fun when the regular business doesn't come near enough to fill in a page to suit them. Once stir. Major E. J. Anderson, the State Controller, and Republican hustler, of New Jersey, came near being made great by a hundred papers and seven languages in that way this morning. "E. J. Anderson, New Jersey," appeared upon the New Denison register last evening, and when correspondents wanted their cards sent up to the room which purported to be assigned to him, the clerks said that he had obscule last the first results of the Drewned.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH.] clerks said that he had already left the city. When a dozen different correspondents had concected their different stories to ac-count for the flying visit of the Major, the least sensational of which made the Major's political associate, ex-Senator Sewell, a certainty for Secretary of War, the hotel people saw that the matter was getting serious and owned up that the name had been written in by one of the clerks to help fill up the register, as it had been a dull day. A FUNNY WORLD.

The funny part of it was that the signature happened to be a pretty fair imitation of that of Major Anderson. This morning the name of Henry Waterson appeared upon the register at the same hotel, and made a little sensation until it was found that that too, was a bogus entry. You never know what funny things there are in the world until you have met a Hoosier hotel clerk. L. Bradford Prince, formerly a Justice of Supreme Court in New Mexico, and well known as a lecturer and writer on topics connected with that part of the country, made a call upon General Harrison today, and spent some time in unfolding to the President-elect his views upon the question of the admission of New Mexico. Of course he thinks that the territory ought

WOULD LIKE SOME PATRONAGE. A far Western visitor, who probably counted for more than the ex-Justice, was George Christ, the member of the Republican National Committee from Arizona. He was on his way to New York, and he talked federal patronage and the Mormon question into General Harrison for some time. The Mormons are coming over from Utah into Arizona at a rate that is alazming the other inhabitants of the Territory, and Mr. Christ thinks that something ought to be done about it. Incidentally he thinks that George Christ is the best man in the world four years from the 4th of March next. He did not put it to General Harrison in just that way, however. What he said was to the effect that "Broken down politicians have been pastured out by several that the said was to the effect that "Broken down politicians have been pastured out by several that the said was to the effect that broken down politicians have been pastured out by several that the said was to the said was to the effect that the said was to the to control the Federal offices in Arizona for have been pastured out by recent administrations upon our Territory, and we think it is time that our own people should be placed

Although he comes from Arizona, Mr. Christ passes for a millionaire; at least he has a mine he says he would not sell for $1,000,000. He showed about the hotel a magnificent nugget of unusual size as a sample of what his mine could do when it could get started.

MEN OF LITTLE FAITH.

Two other Territorial people who turned up to-day were Delegate-elect Carter, of Montana, and Delegate-elect Matthews, of Dakota, both on their way to Washington, where they told General Harrison they hoped there would be occasion for their services very soon after the 4th of March. Like all the other Dakota and Montana people, they have little faith in the prospects of the admission bills before the present Congress, and want a special session to be called to admit the Territories in time for them to have Representatives at the regular session

N. J. Baldwin, of Denver, was still another man from the far West who put in an appearance here to-day. He merely stopped long enough to go up to General Harrison's house, chat with him for a few moments, and then get back to the station and then away. He said that there was no politics in his call in his call.

Dr. Finkbein, of Cincinnati, called upon 197. Finkerin, of Cincinnati, called upon the Harrison family this afternoon. He is 90 years old and as spry as a cricket. He has known all the Harrisons for three generations back, and has been a friend of the family all that time.

family all that time.

The Rev. A. W. Mann, a deaf and dumb clergyman from Cleveland who tried to see the President-elect on Saturday and failed, made another and successful attempt today. He got along very comfortably with General Harrison in spite of his minimity and thinks the General is a great man. Colonel Baker, of Tennessee, came up to see the President-elect to-day and had a short conference with him. It is said that the politics he talked was several sizes be-

INVESTIGATING ELECTION PRAUDS. The United States grand jury, which has been at work since the 15th of last November, to-day reported 47 more indictments for violation of the election law, making the total number up to date 77. "Have you any further inquiries to make?" the Court asked the foreman of the jury. "We have," was the solemn reply

"You may retire;" and they stiffly filed out to continue their work. Up to date nearly 1,000 witnesses have been examined. None of the 77 men in-dicted have been arrested, but the Marshal says that within a day or two his deputies will begin taking them into custody. It is understood that Colonel Dudley is not among the number who have been indicted but the jury still has under consideration the letter he is charged with having written and the District Attorney is trying hard to get the matter before the courts in some way.

It is understood that he has been in cor-respondence with the Attorney General regarding the matter, and has asked permission to make a public statement about the investigation that has been made if no indictment can be returned, and it is expected that he will be given permission to do so.

HE SKIPPED TOO SOON.

A Defaulting Cashler Who Had No Need to Run Awny to Canada.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH.] New YORK, January 21.-The internal quarrels of the Brooklyn Club and the willingness of the aggrieved members to tell all about them have revealed new points of interest in the case of Charles DeBaun, the defaulting eashier of the Park bank, who got away with $95,000. DeBaun was a mem-money enough to make good DeBaun's de-falcation. Most of them deplored the ex-posure of DeBaun's dishonesty, especially in view of the bank's apparent willingness to let him escape the penalty of the law. Nothing came of the movement in the club Nothing came of the movement in the club to pay his liabilities, because two or three clubmen fought the plan tooth and nail. Charles H. Wheeler and J. J. White, the two wealthiest members of the club, killed the scheme by quarreling publicly over it. Had not DeBaun fled to Canada prematurely, however, the clubmen are sure they could have fixed his shortage all right with the lenient bank officials.

VICTIMS OF THE FATAL WIRE.

A Newspaper Office Fired and a Man and Horse Knocked Out.

PEFECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, January 21.-Early this morning a milkman's horse became entangled in an apparently dead telegraph wire which lay before a watering trough up-town. The horse tumbled over, kicked wildly, and then rolled over against the trough dead. Six men hurried up to help the milkman extricate the animal. A policeman saw that one end of the wire was fast to a telegraph pole, and stopped them. The wire was not dead. It had been snapped in two during the storm last night. The telegraph company had neglected to repair it. Shortly before noon the office of the Star in a while they strike, intentionally or unintentionally, a name that belongs to a man whose presence here would make a stir. Major E. J. This morning his buggy was found on a railway trestle over a small creek. The horse was swimming around in the creek nearby. Whalen's dead body was discovered on the bank, half a mile down stream. He had attempted to drive across the trestlework, mistaking it for a road bridge a few rods

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] NEW YORK, January 21 .- The extraor dinary session of the Oyer and Terminer or dered by Governor Hill for the trial of one of the Aldermen indicted for taking bribes from Jacob Sharp, was called to order shortly after 10 o'clock this morning by Judge Daniels, of Buffalo, and ex-Alderman Thomas Cleary was on hand, ready to go through his second trial. The courtroom is not the old Oyer and Terminer room that was the scene of the trial and conviction of Jachne, but is directly above it in the room that was known a few days ago as Part 1 of the Superior Court. The lawyers who will fight Cleary's battle for him this time are General B. F. Tracy, Ira Shafer, John Vin-cent and Congressman-elect Frank T. Fitz-gerald. Daniel Dougherty was not re-tained

All these gentlemen sat on one side of a long table. Cleary sat at the end of it, facing the Judge, while Colonel Fellows and Assistant District Attorneys Sample and Parker sat on the other side. The courtroom was full. After some preliminaries a recess was taken till the afternoon.

At 2 o'clock Mr. Shafer was in a fine humor and began to make it interesting for the talesmen in this style:

We will continue to offer the great bargains in Furniture which have recently astonished our customers. But we propose in addition to close out a large quantity of the talesmen in this style:

Are you capable of giving a direct answer? Who are you? What is your business? Have you ever had an opinion about anything? Hey? What? I syour mind always as blank as that? Well? Are you familiar with these notorious cases? No? Don't you read the newspapers? Well, don't you know what you read? Can't remember? Then what do you read for? Hey? We don't want your opinion, sir. Do you want to take back anything you said to me? If you said yes, didn't you mean yes? Hey? I submit this man isn't competent, and that it would be a great injustice to accept him.

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST.

By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocca, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.
